$150,000 Mail Robbery Near Chicago Today

TWO SACKS OF CURRENCY ARE LOOT OF THUGS

Taken From Postal Messenger at I. C. Depot at Harvey Today

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Chicago, March 25.—Four bandits held up a postal messenger in Harvey, a suburb, today and escaped with two sacks of mail reported to contain between $110,000 and $150,000 in currency consigned to manufacturing companies.

The robbers intercepted William Russell, a postoffice clerk who was carrying the mail sacks from a railroad station to the post office. Overpowering the messenger, the robbers seized the sacks and escaped by automobile.

The robbers were reported to have fled toward Chicago.

Harvey is a small manufacturing city south of Chicago.

Russell, who is 60 years old, was stopped by the bandits, he reported to Postmaster W. H. Pease. He was removing the mail sacks from the I. C. railway platform to a mail truck when attacked by the bandits.

Russell reported the bandits were all armed and he saw several shot guns in their car.

The two sacks stolen contained only registered mail. The bandits narrowly escaped accident or capture when in speeding north from Harvey their automobile rammed a light motor truck, hurling it into a ditch. The bandits were scarcely slowed in their flight.

Later the mail sacks and a quantity of registered mail matter discarded by the bandits were found near Hammond.

The sacks contained money to meet payrolls of $75,000 for the Buda Co., $35,000 for the Wynan-Gordon Mfg. Co., and $25,000 for the Austin Co., according to later estimates.

Not since a flood of mail robberies caused Will Hays, then postmaster general, to order armed men on mail trains to fight off robbers, have bandits attacked the mails near Chicago in such an audacious holdup.

"Bracer" for Wedding Gets Man in Trouble

Milo Patterson, who claims his residence as being near Fort Dodge, was arrested early this morning by Officers Lenox and Dozier, for transporting intoxicating liquor. Patterson pleaded guilty to the charge when arraigned before Justice A. H. Hanneken this morning and was fined $100 and costs.

Patterson told the police that he was on his way home from Hammond, Ind., where he has been employed in one of the steel mills, and was traveling by auto. He was going back home to be married and had stopped on his way at a saloon near Chicago, where he purchased the liquor, stating that he wanted it to use as a bracer before the marriage ceremony. Arriving in Dixon, he drove up to the city hall building and the bottled goods were discovered by the officers.

DeKalb Runaways Are Stopped in This City

Lorraine Lovell, aged 16, and Carol Bodda, aged 15, DeKalb youths, were taken in custody here early this morning, enroute to California, where they intended to seek fame in movie world. They stopped over in Dixon to write postal cards home to friends and relatives, announcing their intention of making San Francisco their objective and were picked up by the police. Lovell, according to the police, was taken in custody here about a year ago and returned to his home. Both are being held awaiting word from the DeKalb police.

Aged Sisters, Blind, Die from Starvation After Protector Dies

Chicago, March 25.—Death from starvation came to Endre and Theodore Kloster, 70 and 72 years old and blind since birth, when their sister, Anna Kloster, 65, who had cared for them, suddenly died according to police who found the three bodies in a neglected building where they had lived.

Dead for about ten days, the three were first discovered by a small boy who believing the building deserted, crawled through a broken window in search of junk. He notified a policeman. A post mortem examination has been ordered.

$900,000 BLAZE IN SPRINGFIELD, SWEEP BIG STORE

Entire Block in Business Section Threatened By Flames.

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Springfield, Ill., March 25.—Firemen today were still playing water on the smouldering debris of last night's $900,000 fire which completely destroyed Myers Brothers clothing store and damaged eight other stores near the Springfield public square.

At least 35 offices of lawyers, doctors and dentists in the six story building were destroyed. Most of the offices contained valuable records and equipment very little of which was saved.

The fire, which is supposed to have started from spontaneous combustion in painter's supplies stored in the basement, was discovered at 8:25 p. m., by a member of the firm. Aided by a small explosion the flames quickly penetrated the upper stories and were soon beyond control. For a time it seemed that the whole block might burn and a call for fire fighting equipment was sent to Decatur, but this was cancelled when the flames began to die down. Only a portion of the losses is covered by insurance.

BODY FOUND IN RIVER IS THAT OF ROCKFORDITE

Left Home At Christmas Time; Wrote of Suicide Intent.

The body of the man found floating in Rock River at "The Narrows," two miles north of Oregon Sunday afternoon by motorists traveling on the Black Hawk Trail, was identified last evening as being that of Hjilmer Carlson of Rockford, who left his home in that city about Christmas time, and who later wrote from Chicago that he was "going to end it all." When he returned to Rockford and took his life in the river has not been determined.

The body had apparently been in the water about six weeks. A small rope was found tied around the man's neck, but there was no laceration of the skin to signify that death had been due to hanging.

One eye had been removed from the socket but the Ogle county authorities were unable to determine whether this had been the result of exposure or whether it had been out for some time as the body was badly decomposed.

Anderson Gets Pick and Shovel in Prison

By Associated Press Leased Wire
New York, March 25.—William H. Anderson, former superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League of New York today begins serving his term of from one to two years in Sing Sing Prison.

Anderson was convicted last January of third degree forgery in connection with the League's books.

The end of the dry leader's fight for acquittal came with a decision by Supreme Court Justice Wagner denying motion for a certificate of reasonable doubt.

Anderson will probably be put to work immediately with a pick and shovel, Warden Laves said yesterday.

Anderson refused to make any statement.

RECTOR DIXON CHURCH SPEAKS MIND ON CHARGE

Defends Character and Administration of Dr. W. G. Murray

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Chicago, March 25.—Charges that the girl inmates of the State Hospital for the feeble minded at Dixon, Illinois, were cruelly punished were made and denied at a hearing into a habeas corpus petition of Middle Fields of this city, 17-year-old, negress, in superior court.

Dr. Louise Keator, physician at the hospital, said that her investigation of the stories of the three girls who alleged ill-treatment today had proved their stories false. It was testified that they had the mental ages of from 9 to 11 years. They said they had been beaten by women attendants "for acting silly."

The following communication from Rev. Father G. Carlton Story, rector of St. Luke's Episcopal church of this city, concerning the scurrilous article in this morning's Chicago Tribune, concerning which editorial notice appears elsewhere on this page, will be worth the attention of every reader of the Telegraph:

Editor Dixon Telegraph: Many people must have noticed the article in this morning's Chicago Tribune headed "Flog Girls at Feeble Minded Home, Charge." "Judge Orders Dixon Hospital Chief Into Court," and the article following mentions the local institution as "controlled by the appointees of Gov. Len Small."

It seems that there are a few pretty obvious comments which would occur to the mind of any just-minded person, perhaps something like the following:

The all-god occurrences are obviously picked out for the purpose of besmirching further the present governor of this state, Len Small, and any man who would serve this jurisdiction of Illinois under his jurisdiction. I hold no brief for Len Small. I cannot imagine myself voting for him. On the other hand, do not propose to be bound hand and foot and turned over to the tender mercies of the Tribune. Among many people around here it seems unnecessary to attack either Small or the Tribune. There is a strong feeling of wishing a plague on them both. But when it reaches the point where servants of the state who have devoted years of service to this state under successive governors are subjected to the suggestion that they are monsters bereft of all kindness, one's sense of justice begins to boil. There are too many people around here who know Dr. Warren G. Murray to stand for it.

1. The charge is brought by the parent of a patient headlined as "feeble-minded," but the article suggests that there is doubt as to her mental capacity, and a question as to why she should be incarcerated. The officials of the previous institute are marked as "incompetent." On the one hand this paper charges Len Small with freeing morons, prisoners, gunmen, etc., from estates prison and here suggests that he keeps them incarcerated unjustly. This is a case of "be damned if you do and be damned if you don't." Anything to get at Small, even though it steals the character of a good man like Dr. Murray?

2. Dr. Murray is known and honored in this community as an able, gentlemanly, efficient and humane servant of the state. He has two children of his own. There is no better father of children in this state, and if he errs in the matter of humanity, kindness and consideration, he errs on the side of having an unusually large supply of it. If the investigation in the court shows that there is just cause for complaint in this matter, all that need be said about it is that under the most efficient human organization things slip by occasionally—but not with the servant of the state.

The way in which he handled the matter of the joy-ride of some of the attendants at the local institution some months ago was advanced.

EDITORIAL

THE DIXON COLONY.

The rotten tactics to which the anti-Small factions are willing to stoop in their desperate efforts to discredit the present state administration are typically illustrated in the Chicago Tribune this morning by an article charging the flogging of girl inmates of the Dixon State Hospital for feeble minded and epileptics.

The other day at the Dixon colony two of the girl inmates were quarrelling. A woman attendant tried to separate them. The two quarrelling girls and several of the other inmates turned upon the attendant and knocked her down and there were cries of "stamp on her," "kick her," etc. Two other attendants came to the rescue and the trouble was stopped. None of the girls were flogged or beaten. The woman they had turned upon has been noted for her fairness toward the patients and her unceasing efforts to be kind to them.

An investigation of the affair at the time brought out the fact that the row was part of a prearranged plan among six girls who had planned, for a reason easily guessed, to start the trouble.

Now comes a writ of habeas corpus from Chicago and one of the girls, Middle Fields, colored, an incorrigible feeble minded delinquent, is selected to put on the "sob stuff" and her attorney has her tell the Chicago judge how "children and young women at the State Hospital for the Feeble Minded at Dixon, Ill., an institution controlled by the appointees of Governor Len Small, have been subjected to violent floggings and assaults by attendants," according to the story in this morning's Tribune.

The Fields girl has her own attorney. The state is required to be represented by an assistant of Attorney General Brundage. All of which makes it very interesting for Dr. Murray.

People in Chicago and over the state will pick up their Tribune this morning, and again tomorrow morning we presume, and read of the brutal treatment Governor Small's appointees are according to helpless children and girls in the state hospital at Dixon. They read the cleverly twisted phrases and insinuations of the Tribune and the inspired testimony of an unfortunate and pathetic but easily influenced colored girl, and they believe the story. It makes votes for the other faction. No matter if it weakens characters and destroys reputations.

But here in Dixon this base attempt will aid Governor Small rather than injure him, because the people of this vicinity know, many of them from personal observation, that Dr. Murray, head of the state institution is the soul of honor and kindness—that the state wards at Dixon have never had such careful, humane, kindly treatment as they have had since Dr. Murray has had charge of them. They know that Dr. Murray would discharge instantly any attendant who did not treat the patients with kindness and consideration.

An example of the regard and love the patients hold toward Dr. Murray is the manner in which they receive him as he makes his daily rounds of the buildings, giving individual attention to the many hundreds there. He seems to know each man and boy by his first name and they crowd around him and struggle with each other that they may get close enough to touch him and have him take their hands and talk to them. At the evening recreation hours Dr. and Mrs. Murray gather these hundreds of pathetic, child-like derelicts together and make of them a great family and give them unbelievable happiness in simple pleasures such as singing the popular songs of the day, with Mrs. Murray, the wife of the superintendent, at the piano and Dr. Murray leading the singing.

Is that the kind of a man who would allow his patients to be flogged or mistreated in any way?

Dixon people know better and they resent this venomous and vicious effort to make political pawns of helpless and unfortunate wards of the state.

SAVANNA HUNTER BELIEVED VICTIM MURDEROUS ATTACK

Body, with Wound in Back, Found on an Island Near City.

Savanna, Ill.—Was Robert Mullen, Savanna man whose body was found on an island in the Mississippi river last Wednesday, a victim of foul play?

This question the authorities are trying to solve, and it is possible some interesting information may be given when the inquest is held tomorrow.

Mullen, who had been missing since December 14, when he and two companions started on a hunting trip up the Mississippi river, was found dead on a small island near the mouth of a stream known as Elk river. He was lying on an outspread coat, while another had been fashioned into a pillow on which his head rested. However, when the body was examined it was found that a deep gouging wound had been made in the back by some instrument. That it was made by an assailant, who then placed the body of his victim on the ground in such a manner as to indicate that Mullen had lain down to sleep is one of the theories advanced.

Not Out in Coat.

That Mullen was in his undershirt when the wound was made is indicated by the fact that the shirt was cut through just over the spot where the gaping wound was found. The coat that had been spread over the prostrate body was not damaged.

Mullen and two other young men named Cecil Gunn and Charles Runyan, went hunting on December 14th. They started up the stream from Savanna in a launch. Engine trouble developing, Gunn and Runyan started

There have been only three days of sunshine all month. No oats have been planted but Mr. Hedgcock does not think any serious damage would result from the backward spell if good weather comes soon.

Will Ask Radio Fans to Share Expenses of Giving Entertainments

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Kansas City, Mo., March 25.—Are those who listen in on the radio willing to share the cost of the entertainment? This is a question a local broadcasting station is endeavoring to answer. The station has broadcast an invitation to those with head sets to buy tickets for the "invisible theater" with voluntary contributions of from $1 to $10.

"We are willing to spend money to operate the station," the manager said, "but the program cost is high and we believe it is fair for those sharing the pleasure to pay a portion of the expense."

for Babula, Ia., to get repairs. Mullen told them he would walk to the railroad track and catch a train for Davenport, Ia. The three men separated at Cook's island, not far distant from which is the island on which Mullen's body was found a few days ago. The two islands are not islands at all except in times of high water, for when the river is at its ordinary stage they are connected with the Iowa shore by a strip of land.

The body having been found near the Iowa side of the river, the authorities at Clinton took charge of it.

NEWS FROM DIXON
BAND HAD REHEARSAL.
Last night the Boys' Band had one of the best practices of this season. Practically every boy was in his place, including new members both from the city and outside the city. The new band drum and the new instruments made a marked improvement even though the boys had no practice on them to speak of. A number of fathers of the boys, together with their friends were present to hear the boys play and to encourage them. Mr. Sennett, the band master, always welcomes the "dads."

Peerless Leader Seems Entirely Recovered from His Illness.
By Associated Press Leased Wire
Chicago, March 25.—Tanned and healthy, with no trace of the recent ailment that caused him to proffer his unaccepted resignation to Owner Charles Comiskey, Manager Frank Chance of the Chicago Americans is preparing to join the White Sox at Chattanooga, April 5.

The asthmatic condition seems to have disappeared. Chance plans to leave Los Angeles, April 1. The Sox to 4 victory of the White Sox over the Boston Braves at Winter Haven, Florida, was featured by the hitting of "Red" O'Leary and Eddie Collins and the fielding of Collins for the visitors.

Rain broke the Chicago National schedule at Stockton.
Hooper to Join Sox.
Harry Hooper, veteran outfielder, who has been unable to come to terms with the Chicago White Sox officials, is expected to join the club within two weeks. Manager Chance expects to start Hooper on his way east from Los Angeles in two or three days.

Rib Falk, Texas college outfielder, of the White Sox, will not be a member of the pitching staff, according to Chance. He is much impressed with Falk's ability as a batter and believes he will develop into a great hitter. Hooper hitting by "Red" O'Leary and Captain Eddie Collins, enabled the White Sox to defeat the Boston Braves 8 to 4. Roy Moore, obtained from Detroit, made his debut but lacked control.

Detroit and Washington continue winning. The Tigers defeated Toronto yesterday 14-4, while the Senators with four inter-league victories are on edge for games against the Giants, Cardinals, Reds and Milwaukee Brewers. Today they tackle Indianapolis at Plant City.

Two Major Teams Beaten.
Pitchers Drake and Edmunds of the Cleveland Indians cut loose yesterday and the Yankees defeated the regulars 4 to 2.
American Association club turned the trick against two majors, Milwaukee shutting out Brooklyn 17-0 while Indianapolis trimmed the Giants 7-3. Ossie Rhuge, star third baseman of the Washington Senators, had a recurrence of knee injury and physicians say he may be unable to play for some time.

NEARLY TIED "HIGH"
Leander "Doc" Hess started local bowlers Saturday evening in a three game series which he rolled on the Pastime alleys when he lacked one pin of tying the score of the year, the honor now held by Otto Peters. In one game, "Doc" knocked down 279 pins, starting off with seven straight strikes, then sparing and striking out. Peters holds the high score of the season with 280 pins. In his three games Hess rolled a total score of 661 pins.

STERLING GETS SUPPORT FROM ALL ELEMENTS

Lieut. Governor Real Harmony Candidate of Republicans.
(Whiteside County Sentinel)
Lieut. Gov. Fred E. Sterling, of Rockford, candidate for renomination on the Republican ticket at the primary, April 8th, has conducted a clean, dignified campaign, entirely devoid of personalities or mud-slinging. His assurances of support have come in great volume from the rank and file in all elements in the Republican party from every county in the state and there is every indication that he will be renominated by a large majority and re-elected next fall to the position which he has filled with eminent satisfaction to the people and particularly to all members of the State Senate, over which body he has presided with admirable fairness and impartiality during its last two sessions.

The press of the state has united in declaring Mr. Sterling big, broad, safe and sane enough to succeed to the responsibilities of the Governorship in the event of any emergency. He has always enjoyed an enviable reputation throughout Illinois as a harmonizer, since he most successfully served as chairman of the Republican State Central committee in 1914-1917 and his renomination will be certain to add strength to and help insure the election of the Republican state ticket next November. He is not a factionalist and believes there is room enough in the Republican party for all Republicans.

TRICKERY BY K. K. ATTORNEY IN CASE CHARGED
Herrin Defendants Say They Were Tricked in Signing Plea.
By Associated Press Leased Wire
Danville, Ill., March 25.—Hosea Cagle owner of an amusement park near Marion, Ill., was found not guilty by a jury in federal court here today on charges of possession and sale of liquor and maintenance of a common nuisance. S. Glenn Young, Williamson County dry leader, was one of the principal witnesses for the government.

Trickery on the part of Arlie Boswell, of Marion, Williamson county, Klan attorney, is charged by representatives of the forty-one Herrin defendants who signed their names to a telegram promising to appear in federal court April 14 and plead guilty. The representatives of the Herrin defendants were in court Monday to see what attitude the court took toward the telegram and were surprised when Special Prosecutor L. T. Allen declared he would ask for a jail sentence for each man. They declare that Boswell promised them jail immunity and that he would use the Klan's influence with the federal court.

Mr. Allen stated that two Williamson county attorneys conferred with him regarding the pleas and that he refused flatly to waive jail sentences. The Herrin delegation Monday night declared Boswell's misrepresentation would result in many of them changing their minds about pleading guilty as the Klansmen had made the first overtures for peace and even claimed they might be able to have the government charges dismissed.

Matchmaking Wits of Women May Feature Case
Daugherty Assistant to Cross-Examine Miss Roxie Stinson.
Washington, March 25.—Delay in the Daugherty investigation has increased the likelihood of a matching of wits between Miss Roxie Stinson, star witness, and Mrs. Mabel Willie Brandt, assistant attorney general.

Resumption of the hearing was postponed yesterday until tomorrow, because of illness troubling Senator Wheeler, democrat, Montana, chief investigator.
Miss Stinson was to have completed her testimony and faced cross examination and Mrs. Willie Brandt was expected to conduct questioning on behalf of the attorney general.

Whether the committee will make further efforts to "establish the facts" surrounding Smith's death a year ago in the apartment, he and Daugherty shared in Washington had not been determined last night although Miss Stinson said she saw no powder stains about the wound.

must be fresh in the minds of people here, and that firmly cemented in our minds the standard of decency required by him. I am satisfied that if the alleged facts are as stated, and could be proven, that had they been brought directly to him, swift justice would have been meted out, without the necessity of going into Chicago.

The Tribune, in its campaign against small describes this local hospital as an institution controlled by "small appointees." It so happens that Small is the governor of the state and every servant of the state in one sense is a Small appointee, regardless of the fact that we people of Illinois have public servants who have served us for ten, twenty, thirty or more years under successive governors. Behind all this political turmoil, hatred and frenzied lying, continues the quiet and efficient service of these public servants. I suggest that we ought to be able to see through the smoke of the political battle and deal justly with them regardless of our opinion of the present Executive.

I suggest that the Dixon State Hospital is an incomplete institution. Its building program calls for many additional buildings if it is to carry out its office properly. The recent disastrous fire at the Dunning Institution has doubtless completely faded from the minds of many people, but one reason why the local institution is crowded to overflowing is because they jammed in here every patient they could from there. They had to send them somewhere, and Dixon had to take its quota. Nobody is amazed if an automobile with three wheels fails to function perfectly. Is it possible to satisfy all the needs of one who expect of a perfect institution, when that institution is incomplete?

Dr. Murray, in the opinion of all who know him and his work, has done so splendidly here, that it is the hope and aim of many to do all they can to have him continued here, regardless of the outcome of the present political battle around the governorship of the state. He is a thoroughly efficient public servant, and the interests of the people of the state demand that he who knows the job, be allowed to stay and complete it.

Justice to these public servants demands a sane and balanced criticism of such derogatory articles as that to which I refer in this morning's Chicago Tribune.
GEORGE CARLTON STORY.

Setegi's Attorney Asks Court to Quash Information in Case
Attorney H. A. Brooks, representing Paul Setegi, whose residence east of the city was the scene of a monster liquor haul by the sheriff's forces on the afternoon of March 13, appeared in the county court today and argued a motion to quash the information which had been filed. In the raid, three stills were taken out of a hot underground house, where a quantity of finished product and several barrels of mash were found, one still being in operation.

Setegi's attorney pleaded that the complaint upon which the warrant for the search was issued, was faulty, and argued that Justice of the Peace Edward Jones, who drew up the papers, acted without authority and was without jurisdiction. The case was recessed at noon until 2 o'clock this afternoon.

POINTS OF VIEW—

By Charlotte M. Conover in The Woman Citizen.

There's a woman in our village, and she is wondrous wise.
She bakes the most delicious cakes, not to mention pies.
She knows all about her neighbors—every ache and pain and sin—
But on the problems of the day her fund of thoughts is thin.
To her baking and her knitting and her gossip still she sticks.
She says, "Oh, don't ask me, my dear—you see, that's politics."

There's a woman in our village, and she is wondrous wise.
She writes club papers by the yard, and even verifies.
She knows about the Ten Best Books—
—Is sure that Culture pays—
But she's blank upon the problems of our troubled modern days.
To her social work and literature and poetry she sticks.
She says, "It's quite too low-brow to be versed in politics."

There's a maiden in our village, and she is wondrous wise.
She knows the proper use to make of sparkling maiden eyes.
Her cheeks and lips are landscaped, and her hair is always curled.
And she's never caught discussing solemn problems of the world.
To her flirting and her make-up and her "permanent" she sticks.
She says, "The men won't love you if you talk of politics."

And then there is another one, a woman we admire—
To tell her virtues and her charms two stanzas will require.
She "housekeeps" with the best of them and cooks to beat the band.
And it doesn't take her all the day, because her work is planned.
She loves her children quite a bit (they're cunning little chicks).
And makes that love the basis for her love of politics.

She also writes club papers, and she's cultured through and through.
She knows she's quite good-looking and rejoices in it too.
She even uses rouge sometimes—to tell the awful truth—
But you can't fool her on politics—she knows the game, forsooth.
To her children and her country and religion still she sticks.
She says, "Why, can't you see it?—they're the heart of politics."

Dixon Woman's Club Meeting

The Dixon Woman's club held a regular meeting on Saturday, March 22nd, at St. Paul's Lutheran church. This was a business meeting and the proposed amendments to the club constitution were read and thoroughly discussed.

Mrs. E. Davis made a fine appeal for funds for the Girl Scouts. This is a very worthy cause and the club will take action at the next meeting. The hostesses were Mesdames Decker, Adams, Freed, W. Leake, Cina and Hawkins.

TO ENTERTAIN DUPLICATE BRIDGE CLUB—

Mrs. Harry Roe will entertain the Duplicate Bridge club at luncheon on Thursday.

HOUSEHOLD SUGGESTIONS—

Fresh Air.

Except in the very hottest weather, all foods, cooked or raw, keep better in fresh air than in a refrigerator.

Makes It Tough.

Do not use too much flour when making sponge cake, as this makes it tough.

Delicious Salad.

Cold cooked peas, carrots, beets, string beans and almost any cold vegetables may be combined with French dressing to make a delicious salad.

Protecting Hair.

When sweeping, cover your head with a cap or handkerchief, to protect your hair from dust.

Use Needle.

A knitting needle is better than a fork for testing potatoes or other vegetables to see if they have cooked sufficiently.

One Cupful.

Sixteen tablespoons of any dry ingredient make one cupful.

gradient make one cupful.

Cheaper Cuts.

Instead of always buying stakes and chops, which are the most expensive of meats, remember that the cheaper cuts may be used for meat pie, meat loaf, pot roast, hamburger or stew.

Clarify With Potato.

When frying fat has become dark from repeated using, clarify it with potato.

Baked Bananas.

Baked bananas are a tasty dessert if served with lemon or some tart sauce. You prepare them by removing the skins, laying the pulp in a baking dish sprinkled with granulated sugar and a little water, and bake in a hot oven until tender.

Dried Peas, Beans.

Dried beans and peas, pound for pound, are much richer in food values than fresh vegetables, but they require great care in cooking so that the tough skins may be made tender.

The committee will be assigned their work more fully at the next regular meeting in April, and a full attendance is expected to do so. Mrs. Tabor read a poem, entitled "The Points of View."

WHEELER SICK, ATTY. GENERAL PROBE DELAYED

Hearings Will Be Resumed Wednesday If He Recovers.

By Associated Press Leased Wire

Washington, March 24.—Further hearings in the senate investigating Attorney General Daugherty today were postponed until Wednesday. The postponement largely was due to the illness of Senator Wheeler, democrat, Montana, the committee prosecutor.

Senator Wheeler is confined to his bed with a cold. Senator Moses, republican, New Hampshire, was replaced with the opening of an investigation into the Gande land transactions and Senator Jones, republican, Washington, was out of the city.

Chairman Brookhart said that the inquiry would proceed Wednesday, even if Senator Wheeler should be unable to return.

When the committee resumes it hopes to conclude with the testimony and cross examine of Roxie Sinsoul.

A STRANGE KIND OF SLAVERY.

This man became a slave to health rules—John H. Patterson, founder of the National Cash Register Co. His biographer, Samuel Crowther tells about it.

Patterson's health broke down from overwork and strain when he was 60. He had always been a determined fighter, always gone after things hammer-and-tongs. That's how he went after new health.

Patterson was an admirer of Cornaro, the Italian, who believed that most people dig their graves with their teeth, and who fasted scientifically, living to well over 100 years.

So Patterson started by fasting 37 days, taking only a few sips of water a day. The fast made him feel so much better that he went on a scientific vegetarian diet, chiefly baked potatoes and toasted crusts.

Full of enthusiasm, Patterson went to London and hired the strong man, Sandow, to train him.

For months Sandow worked with Patterson as if training a prizefighter. He made him ride 25 miles a day on horseback. Most of his other time was strenuously used in the gymnasium. A special trainer rubbed him down numerous times each day.

At the end of a year Patterson returned to his Dayton business "a new man." He employed a staff of doctors to watch him. They hovered nearby constantly—weighing him, testing his blood pressure, listening to his heart, charting his temperature. Food for his meals was weighed on delicate scales.

Patterson took five baths and rubdowns a day, a special doctor watching the temperature of his bath. Every 30 minutes, a valet brought him a glass of hot distilled water.

He rose at 4 every morning, took a horseback ride, had bath and breakfast. Then to work for an hour, next a bath and rubdown and into bed for an hour in a special room at his factory. This program was repeated through the day.

The result? Well, Patterson lived 18 years after his breakdown at 60, and was vigorous and happy to the end.

Patterson's experience demonstrates that man can reach almost any goal if he is willing to work hard enough and devote sufficient time to the quest.

Many will wonder if his 18 years of good health was worth the price he paid for it, financially and in time expended. Was the game worth the candle? It certainly was, for he enjoyed the whole process. He was a happy slave. All of us are slaves to some one or some system, job or hobby. As long as we enjoy it, why not?

HAIR STYLES.

Bobbed hair is having a secondary period of popularity. Nearly half the well-dressed women either bob their hair or effect a substitute. In two more months three-fourths of them will be in the bobbed ranks. So reports J. Schaeffer, vice president of the National Permanent Wavers' Association.

He says the general opinion among hair-dressers is that the bobbed hair rage will last about one more year. It might be a good idea for political leaders not to mention this news at gatherings of women voters. On the same principle that baseball or bootlegging can sift men's attention from politics pronto.

WHAT IS ADVERTISING?

Advertising is a necessity. Neither you nor I can do without it. Babies advertise the fact that they are hungry—by crying. Older children who can talk advertise their desires, likes and dislikes—by telling others about them. The voice is the only medium they know of—as children. A singer advertises her singing—by singing. Folks hear her—and want more.

Husky whips the town bully. His prowess at fisticuffs soon becomes generally known. Friends advertise him. Dad, however, must reach a wider area in advertising his business than the human voice can penetrate. He can talk to but one customer at a time. How can he reach them all, successfully?

Dad writes his message and publishes it in a medium that reaches those who are prospects for the goods he makes and sells. Prospects are only waiting for that message to learn where they can buy to the best advantage.

Dad's newspaper advertising creates sales. The newspaper is the medium that serves both Dad and Dad's customer.

Are you looking for customers? Then by all means advertise.

That is the only way your prospects can find you—and buy.

STAYING IN ROCHELLE.

The editor gets plenty of razzing that he perhaps deserves and that's bad enough, but when he gets razzed for some one else's faults, that's worse. A recently copied article from a Rochelle newspaper let us in for some roasts that were caused by a mistaken interpretation of the article.

The story in question was the fall of a Rochelle motorist who got "pinched" in Dixon, along with a number of others, for ignoring the traffic light on the corner of Seventh and Galena avenue. At the finish of the article the editor of the Rochelle paper wrote, in an editorial note, "Stay in Rochelle, where you belong."

Well, until a driver becomes sufficiently acquainted with the traffic rules in this state so that he can observe at least the rudiments of the law, perhaps it is better to stay right at home and just drive around in his own block where the neighbors will be more tolerant of his shortcomings than the police in strange towns, but we hasten to assure our readers and the good people of Rochelle that it was not the editor of The Telegraph who admonished the Rochelle man to stay in Rochelle. He has the editor of the Rochelle paper to thank for that advice.

They have traffic posts on the main corners in that hustling Ogle county city and we presume they require motorists to go around those posts. If anyone from Dixon were caught cutting a corner in Rochelle in defiance of a traffic light we should have but little sympathy for them when they paid their fine. We fine Dixon people quite frequently for cutting corners. We Dixon people would be very, very sorry to have the people of Rochelle think they were not welcome here. We like to have them visit Dixon and we like to visit Rochelle. We expect to observe the automobile laws while in Rochelle, however. And we think it only a sensible precaution to ask visitors to observe the same laws here.

When the departing Rochelle motorist was caught cutting the corner the other night he was endangering any car that might have been approaching that corner from the east. All Rochelle visitors come into Dixon from that direction and he might have rammed full tilt into a carload of Rochelle people coming to Dixon. If Dixon let such a thing as that occur they would be accused, and quite properly, of failing to protect the interests of Rochelle visitors.

The writer who signs his contribution "A Victim" was merely a victim of his own carelessness. You should not get peeved at Dixon just for that, "Victim." And don't think we don't want you here. We are not after the lines either. Dixon would much prefer that you come and obey the law than to have you come and violate it.

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS

NO. 9—THE RACE

One clown was riding the wooden elephant

"Hurrah for the elephant!"
"Hurrah for the giraffe!"
The people at the Humpty Dumpty Circus in Doofunny Land got so excited that they couldn't sit still, but stood up and stamped and whistled until it was worse than a baseball game.

One clown was riding the wooden elephant and another one was riding the wooden giraffe, and they were having a race.

One minute the elephant was ahead and the next minute the giraffe would be ahead.

Mr. Fuzz Wuzz, the pipe cleaner man, got so excited that he laid his high silk hat on his seat when he got up to yell, and then sat down on it.

The tin mouse found himself asking his enemy, the patent leather cat, if he didn't think the giraffe was longer winded than the elephant, on account of his neck.

And the patent leather cat forgot that he was hungry, and replied that he didn't know, but the elephant certainly could cover more ground, as his feet were larger.

The judges for the race were the canton flannel monkey and the Teddy bear.

The bear stood with a witch in one hand and a bell in the other.

"Hurrah for Jumbo!" yelled Nick, for at that moment the elephant was ahead. On turning a corner the big fellow had cut in behind the giraffe and passed him.

"Hurrah for Long Neck!" cried Miss ter Fuzz Wuzz the next minute, for at the next turn the giraffe cut in behind the elephant and passed him.

Every minute people got more and more excited, and Nancy did a dreadful thing. She was sitting beside the ginger bread man eating a ball of popcorn, and she went to yell something in the ginger bread man's ear and take a bite of popcorn. Instead of that she yelled at the ball of popcorn and bit off the ginger bread man's ear.

But the ginger bread man was so busily watching the race that he never felt it! He never noticed that his ear was gone until the next morning when he went to wash it.

On went the elephant! On went the giraffe! Only a few steps to go to cross the line—and now they were exactly even.

But what did the giraffe do but stretch out his neck straight ahead of him and that put him four feet ahead of the elephant!

"The giraffe wins! Long Neck wins by a neck!" yelled the crowd. "Hurrah!"

But they weren't quite over the line yet, and quick as a wink the elephant stuck out his trunk. And it put him three inches ahead of the giraffe! At that minute they crossed the line and the Teddy bear rang the bell.

"Hurrah! Hurrah for Jumbo! He won by a nose!" yelled everybody.

THEY LIKE FELIX

London—Felix, a slow-moving old rat, is a pensioner at the Derby railway station here and is jealously protected by the station's staff. He will nibble his food, undisturbed, in full view of the throngs that pass in and out. If anyone tries to molest him, the station employees are quite indignant. It is their boast that no dog or ferret dare touch Felix and that he is too wise to take poison.

OUR BOARDING HOUSE

BY AHERN

THE NUT CRACKER

Sarasota, Fla.—One Punch O'Goofy dropped in here to pay his respects to his old brick-tossing companion, Mr. John J. McGraw of the Giants, alias the Master Mind of baseball. Mr. O'Goofy, it may be noted, is liberal with his respects.

The Master Mind was seated at the breakfast table.

"What will it be this morning?" inquired the waiter.

"Let me think," answered the Master Mind.

It is hard to get over a habit. Mr. McGraw began trying to think last fall when Ruth came up with two on and he is still at it, in spite of the early discouragements.

"I'll have some educated eggs," he decided presently.

"Educated eggs!" exclaimed our Mr. O'Goofy, registering surprise.

"Scrambled with brains," explained the Master Mind. "It is the club's dish this spring."

The Master Mind promises to pull a comeback this year. "I mind may be blank but it is never dumb," is one of the Master's snappy spring clogans. Another is, "Nothing matters but gray matter."

The Master tells you he likes that one. "It sounds so scholarly."

"The Master holds classes in advanced mental calisthenics every day. Questions are fired at the wide-eyed students with machine-gun speed.

"What is three and two?" the Master shouts at Heinie Groh. "A tough spot with Alexander against you," is the form answer.

"Who is Judge Landis and why?" Any kind of a jocular answer to this is correct.

"What is the proper way to address an umpire?"

(The Master makes this tough by adding, "Suppose you can't get a base ball soon enough?")

"You can see how I am working to improve the mentality of my ball club," said the Master, turning to our Mr. O'Goofy.

"Trying to harpoon whales in a goldfish bowl is another way to waste your time," suggested the one-punch person, ducking a whirling left hook.

The Master, going from the sub-line to Cussey Stengel, expressed the belief that the race this year would be closer than Ben Turpin's eyes.

"I like Wise counselor myself," admitted O'Goofy.

"Don't be ridiculous. Sarazeta's a cinch if he gets a good ride," shot back the Master.

Now that we are on the subject who did win the last six-day bike race, any way?

Manchester, England, is the center of the world's cotton trade.

Finds Kellogg's Bran "Easy way to avoid constipation" after suffering for years

Constipation is a dangerous disease. It can lead to many others. Twenty years' suffering with constipation undermined this man's health. Kellogg's Bran restored it—as it has done for thousands. This is what he says:

"Gentlemen: After eating Kellogg's Bran twelve days for one month I find it not only an 'Easy Way to Avoid Constipation,' but an easy and most pleasant way to cure it. I have been troubled with constipation . . . for more than twenty years . . . after adopting the milk and bran diet I find my stomach greatly improved, and find it a specific for constipation. . . . I deem it only justice that you should know what your product has done for me, and what it is capable of doing for others."

(The original of this letter is on file at the Kellogg Company, Battle Creek, Mich.)

Kellogg's Bran relieves mild and chronic constipation because it is ALL bran. It brings sure results. It sweeps, cleans and purifies the intestine in nature's own way. Don't experiment. Only ALL bran can be 100 per cent effective.

If eaten regularly, Kellogg's Bran, cooked and krumbed, is guaranteed to bring permanent relief—or your grocer returns your money. You should eat two tablespoonfuls daily—in chronic cases, with every meal.

The flavor is delicious—nut-like—cooked and krumbed. Enjoy it with milk or cream, sprinkled on other cereals, cooked with hot cereals, or in the delightful recipes on every package. Made in Battle Creek. Sold by grocers everywhere.

SPEECH BY DRAFT EVADER CAUSE OF E. L. DISTURBANCE

Epworth League Meeting in Evanston May Have Interesting Sequel.

Chicago—The disturbance occasioned by the address of Brent Dow Allinson, a pacifist, before the Epworth League of the First Methodist church of Evanston Sunday night, seems destined to have a sequel April 9, when Prof. Philip Fox, of the R. O. T. C. of Northwestern University is to address the league on "preparedness." The bitterness of the debate was intensified when Allinson, who served a sentence at Leavenworth for draft evasion, charged that the United States was preparing for another war.

The regular meeting of the league, at which Allinson spoke on "the youth movement in Germany," was followed by a patriotic rally called by Captain John W. Gorby, past commander of the Lake Forest, American Legion. Gorby's request for an American flag caused a storm of hisses.

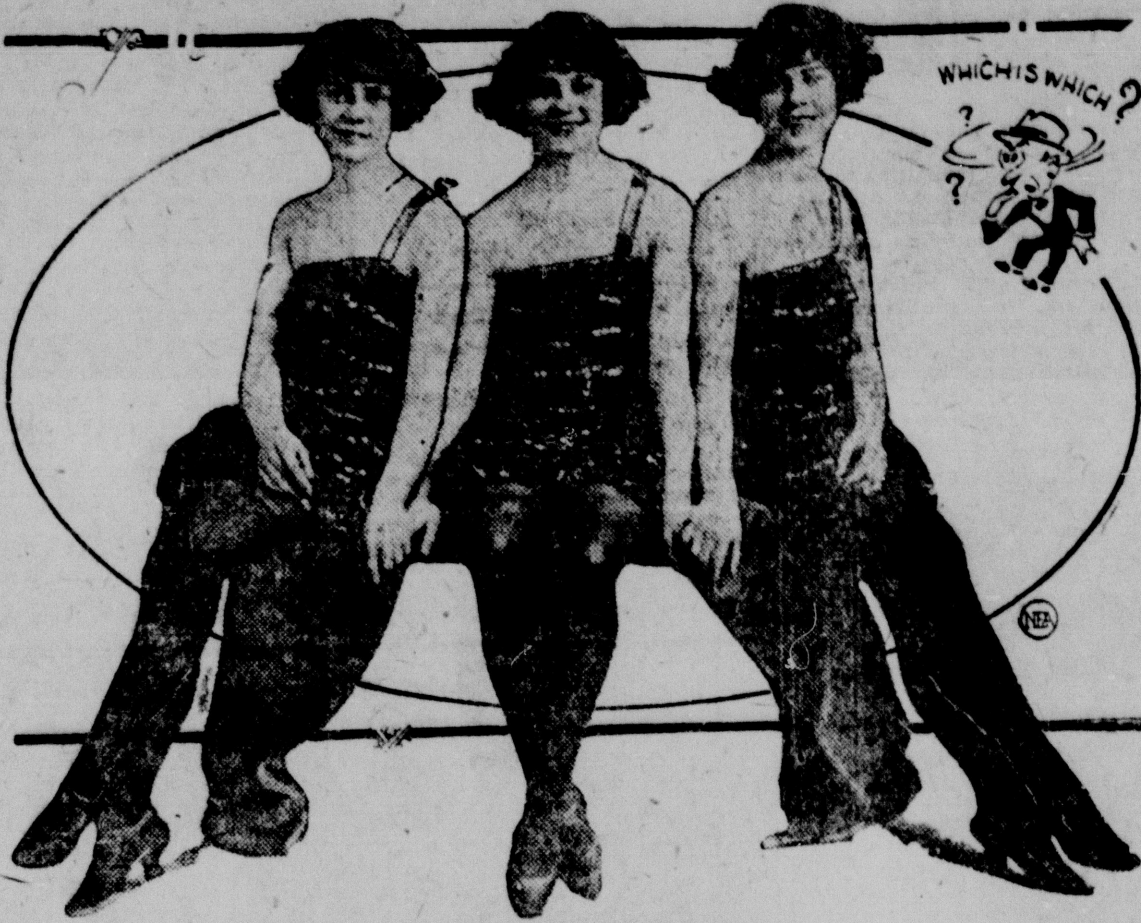

The outbreak followed presentation by legion members of a resolution saying that Allinson's war record disqualified him from addressing an American audience. They submitted a letter from Col. J. H. Wigmore, dean of Northwestern University law school raising the question of the propriety of Allinson's address.

Voted to Hear Him
"Can you endorse the personality of a disloyal pro-German person who has defied the law?" Dean Wigmore asked. "Can you invite such a person to your platform? Would you invite a bootlegger to talk to your congregation?"

Dr. E. F. Tittle, pastor, in charge of the meeting, called for a vote. The audience decided, 117 to 9 to hear Allinson.

Allinson said a group of young German pacifists inspired the German revolution that broke out at the close of the war and declared that youth "must save the world from more war." He asserted Europe was "on the road to hell" and America wasn't far behind. Captain C. B. Hopkins of the military intelligence and others out of sympathy with the meeting

HUNT ELUSIVE WOLF

Lorain, O.—The countryside hereabouts is worked up over a big wolf hunt that has been undertaken by the farmers. No one will swear he has seen the wolf or wolves, but reports of slain sheep and other livestock caused the farmers to spread a dragnet. They had their trouble for their pains. So far the only animals encountered have been rabbits, and the season for them is over.

What Are the Facts?

There is a wise old saying that "the proof of the pudding is the eating thereof."

We all appreciate that. Regardless of what we say of ourselves and of our goods and what others may say about us and the kind of goods we carry, it is a fact that you can better judge for yourself.

In this way you can obtain unimpeachable evidence of what are the facts.

Our policy, our methods, our values—even our prices—are always open and alike to all. We invite critical inspection.

Boys Make Good at Work They're Put At

The local "Y" is rendering still another service to the employers and business men of the city. Saturday three men called up and asked that boys be sent to work for the day. The boys were picked out and sent immediately. Two of these men phoned to say that the boys they had were wanted for every Saturday because they gave such good service. The boys had been picked because they were best fitted for their particular job. If the employers of the city wish to get boys especially adapted for the work they have, they will do well to phone Mr. Hunt of the Y. M. C. A. who will pick the boy through the Y Boys Employment Bureau.

Lad Gives Credit to Y for His Character

The General Secretary received a letter in Monday's mail from a young man 18 years of age who recently left Dixon to take a position elsewhere. Prior to his leaving he had been taking advantage of the Y. M. C. A. activities. One paragraph of his letter goes to show what the "Y" means.

Home Made Cough Mixture Best

Spreads Over Membrane,
Soothes, Heals and Stops Cough.

Make your own cough syrup in two minutes at home if you want the best. It costs but a trifle.
If simple coughs, or stubborn coughs, it doesn't matter which this home made mixture will stop them quicker than any expensive cough syrup you can buy ready made.
Get from Rowland Bros. or any druggist one ounce of Peppermint (double strength)—to this add a little granulated sugar, as directed, and enough water to make one-half pint—that's all there is to it, and children like it.
Like a soothing, healing poultice one easily substance in this home made cough mixture spreads itself completely over the membrane of the throat. This causes the most stubborn hang-over cough to cease almost instantly. No ordinary slow-acting cough syrup contains this expensive ingredient—adv.

"COPY CATS"

"BRICK TAVERN," OGLE LANDMARK, OUT OF FAMILY

Hotel of Underground Railroad Fame Has Been Sold Out.

Byron—"The Brick Tavern," built on the corner of Main and Walnut streets in 1840 was sold last week to Dr. R. C. Baker.

This is an Ogle county landmark, built when Byron was a struggling settlement. Before and during the war it was the scene of many bitter arguments relative to the slavery question and it was broadly hinted that circumstances connected with the operation of the "Underground Railroad" centered around the structure.

During the war the building was considered a magnificent structure, with its trailing vines climbing the high brick walls. Within a short distance of the location of the ferry across Rock river, it enjoyed a liberal patronage.

It was erected by the father of Charles Ames, Byron resident, who operated it as a hotel until 1880, when it was sold by Mr. Ames to a Mr. Brindley, who also operated it as a tavern. The next purchaser was Wm. Ellis, father of Mrs. L. A. Spoor of Byron, who willed it to his daughter, Mrs. Simpson and on her death it became the property of Miss Helen Simpson. Five generations have shared its ownership.

Dr. Baker purchased the property as an investment, as it will be a desirable corner when the Black Hawk Trail is completed.

The building is now occupied by Frank Spoor and family and T. M. Hench.

AMUSEMENTS

AUDITORIUM, CHICAGO

Chicago—Believing that Chicago, the musical center of the United States, can well afford to patronize two grand opera organizations, Fortune Gallo, through the courtesy of the Chicago Civic Opera Company, is bringing his well known San Carlo Opera company to this city for a special week of opera, at popular prices, beginning March 31st at the Auditorium Theater. A long list of well known artists, several former favorites of the local organization, including Mrs. Tamaki Miura, Japanese prima donna, Anna Fitzu and Alice Gentle. An unusual choral ensemble and the special orchestra which played during the San Carlo's eight week engagement at the Century Opera House in New York last fall, all accompany the singers to Chicago. An unusual feature of the weeks program of opera is the announcement of a special engagement of the Pavlov-Oukramsky ballet, which will appear in each performance.

Mme. Miura, whose interpretation of the pathetic, little geisha girl in "Madame Butterfly," has been styled the perfect "On-Clon-San," will sing in that opera on the opening night. Two other Puccini operas, "La Tosca," and "La Boheme," will also be given. The other operas to be presented will include "Carmen" with Alice Gentle.

A WELCOME RELIEF

London—Sergeant Hatfield of the Royal Fusiliers thought he had swallowed his false teeth during a drill. He was taken to a hospital where the X-ray failed to disclose them. After returning to the barracks, the teeth dropped out of a gas mask Hatfield had been wearing during drill.

Paid Fancy Prices

"I paid an international authority on diseases of the stomach $1,500 and didn't do me five cents' worth of good. I have been to various Spas in Europe, as well as this country and have spent fully $30,000 fruitlessly in search of a cure for my stomach trouble. Naturally I lost faith in any remedy for my case. My wife's brother had taken May's Wonderful Remedy and praised it so highly that I tried it and am now entirely rid of that trouble." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and cures the inflammation, which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded. For sale at all druggists—Adv.

FABLES ON HEALTH A WIFE'S INFLUENCE

One evening, shortly after a talk with his doctor, Mr. Mann, of Anytown, surprised Mrs. Mann at the dinner table by remarking:

"Think I'll run over to the gymnasium tonight."

"What's this?" gasped the Mrs. "A new excuse for getting out to a poker game? Or is there a burlesque show in town?"

Now, Mrs. Mann was not without feminine shrewdness and intuition. A second after she had questioned her husband's intentions she regretted it.

There was something almost wistful in the expression upon his face. She realized she should have sensed his sincerity, and encouraged him.

And, being a wise woman, she did not back up her own mistakes with stubbornness, but invariably backed down.

"Papa," she said, "you trot right along. But if, within a couple of weeks, you can't run the daily dozen up to 24, I'll be suspicious."

"What's more, I want you to learn enough about exercise to pass it on to the youngsters. We'll turn the bedtime story into a healthtime story."

The moral of all of which is this: A wife can be a vital influence in getting her husband in the exercise habit. Encourage your husband, wives, and then get the habit yourself.

ON AGAIN, OFF AGAIN

There is much ado in England; much that shouldn't be ado. At least that's how the people feel about it. Perhaps it's no concern to me or no concern to you, but 'tis to England, don't you ever doubt it.

The Prince of Wales, a likely lad and sportsman through and through of course, is heir-apparent to the throne. It also is apparent that whatever he may do, to all the world it's very shortly known.

The game of steeplechasing is the pleasure of the prince; there's nothing he would rather do than ride. But, while he is enjoying it, the English people wince whenever Royal Eddie gets astride.

A horse, a horse, my kingdom for a horse. Bill Shakespeare said; and that's the phrase the Britishers recall. For they're afraid that riding's going to be the end of Ed, and hence they wince whenever he takes a fall.

There's credit due a fellow who can ride a racing nag and folks admire his nerve and grit, of course. But if the hobby, steeplechasing's got to be his nag, they'd rather he would ride a hobby horse.

TUESDAY.

The Selfish Man.

Read Mt. 19: 23-30. Text: 19:30. But many shall be last that are first, and first that are last.

"All badness, or sin, toward God is necessarily also sin against society, for God is set on producing a certain social result. The bad man sets himself against the great upward trend of the moral evolution of mankind, which the will of God is vitalizing. In the midst of an evolution in which all men ought to say, 'What the world needs we will all work together with the will of God to get,' he says, 'What I want I take.'"

MEDIATION: Whenever a man uses his possessions merely for his own gratification they become a curse, for they turn the stream of life back upon itself and dam the outflow of the spirit which alone enlarges life. The selfish man, however much he may have of possessions or position, finds himself growing in loneliness as these things cut him off from his fellows, until by closing all the windows of his soul he shuts himself away from all mankind.

PERSONAL QUESTION: What are the self-centered motives in my life?

PRAYER: Almighty God, may there be springs of usefulness in all our lives. May healing streams of benevolence and sympathy flow from us into the desert places of life. Let thy spirit dawn upon our lives. Let the darkness of sin and selfishness be banished from our souls, in Christ's name. Amen.

TEN CENTS PER LINE FOR CARD OF THANKS.

Evidently there are some who do not understand that Card of Thanks run in a newspaper is purely a personal matter and not news, and consequently something for which a charge is made in all papers. Seventy-five cents is the minimum price in the Telegraph, so if those wishing a card run would save the money with copy it would save all further annoyance.

MISS ALVA

BY DOUGLAS GRANT

BEGIN HERE TODAY

Sallie Peck, employee of the Fair Deal Five & Ten, quarrels with her boss, Mr. Peck, who is a very strict disciplinarian. That night a storm comes up and Sallie's employers to take down the awning over the entrance to the store. Sallie is the only one left in the store when the storm comes.

When Sallie remains unconcerned at the storm, her strange surroundings, handsomely furnished. She is waited upon by a maid named Therese and a nurse, Miss Tidmarsh. They call Sallie by the name of Alva Copeland.

Madam Copeland, a tall, richly dressed woman, comes and calls Sallie her step-daughter. She tells the girl that she is a very successful wreck and that her life was saved by Cousin Wheeler. Sallie decides to stay in the mystery.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

The nurse's next words drove the thought from her mind, however, and almost destroyed her appetite. "We must not overdo it at first, you know, but I'm glad you are hungry, for Therese is coming to dress you. You are to sit up for awhile and have a visitor! Isn't that splendid?"

She glanced meaningfully toward the pink roses which had been placed in a vase on the bedside and Sallie's heart sank.

"Am I?" she replied without enthusiasm. It would perhaps be as well to get the interview over with and as she ate her spirit rose.

When she had fortified herself with two cups of tea and the nurse was reduced to a mere heap of tiny bones Miss Tidmarsh removed the tray and Therese took her place, with something pale blue and frothy with lace cascading over her arm and a pair of silver brocade slippers dangling from her hand.

Could they be the other girl's clothes, Sallie asked herself as she bathed and permitted Therese to dress her. They were the slinky kind that hung any old way and the tea-gown was a dream; even the slippers fitted although they looked unbearably small and when at the maid's solicitation she seated herself before the dressing-table to have her hair arranged she was human enough to feel a little thrill of pleasure at the picture that met her gaze.

Only once was she off her guard, when Therese opened a drawer filled with cosmetics and took out a small jar of rouge.

"Can that stuff!" she exclaimed. "I don't ever—"

"But you always permit a little, Miss Alva." Therese interrupted quickly. "You are so pale, like one small ghost! Mademoiselle will recall how she protested in Paris when we added the touch of brightness to the hair, and yet behold the difference."

She cocked her head on one side in an attitude of admiration and Sallie indignantly submitted. The idea of insinuating that her hair wasn't natural!

Sallie gasped at the result when the make-up was applied. Why, she was almost pretty, but if Ma Brennan could see her she would be a good thing more.

"One thing more," Therese turned to the vase and selected three roses from it. "These will add the touch of pink."

"No, they won't," Sallie interrupted firmly in her turn. "I'm not wearing Mr.—Mr. Sloot's flowers!"

She recalled the last name engraved on the card and something in the maid's tone warned her that she anticipated difficulty, hence it would be as well to refuse.

But Therese had produced a pin and proceeded to fasten them at the soft belt as though no opposition had been offered.

"It will please Monsieur," she remarked composedly, "and that will also please your mother, mademoiselle. Come now. They are waiting in Madame's sitting room."

She threw open the door and Sallie smile. "I've been told, too, that I've got you to thank for saving my life."

"Not at all. It was nothing—I mean, that any man—"

He paused, for Sallie gave a little gurgle of laughter. She was commencing to enjoy Cousin Wheeler.

"I believe you." She hoped he got her meaning. "You must have kept your wits about you pretty well in that wreck!"

"Don't let us talk about it!" Mrs. Copeland murmured. "The shock—"

Come in, Elsie. Wheel the wagon over here, please."

Out of the tail of her eye Sallie saw the tall young footman enter with the tea-tray and proceed to arrange its contents on a little wheeled table which he rolled across to Mrs. Copeland's side. Then at a whispered word from her he withdrew but not before he had glanced once more covertly in Sallie's direction.

"I received a letter from your grandmother's secretary today," Mrs. Copeland announced as she bustled herself with the tea-tray. "She will be able to return very soon now and she is more than anxious to see you."

So she had a grandmother, too! Sallie accepted the cup which Wheeler Sloot proffered and sipped her tea reflectively. They were sipping their some more information; surely they knew there was nothing wrong with her memory, especially after the check to the nurse about her identity!

"I had forgotten all about my grandmother." The third cup of tea within an hour palled upon her and Sallie placed it on a small table near. "There seem to be a whole lot of things I don't remember."

"You will when you are reminded of them, Alva." Wheeler Sloot remarked smoothly. "It's so many years since you have seen Grandmother that she can't be anything but a name to you now but I've been with her a great deal, you know. She is really remarkable for her age, isn't she Aunt Flo?"

"Quite," Mrs. Copeland agreed but somewhat dryly. "It is very mad that her ailment is incurable but six months in the longest we may hope to have her with us, the specialists say; otherwise Alva would have remained at her convent in Switzerland until the summer. She is quite helpless, you know, my dear, but her mind is wonderfully active."

She had added the last remark to Sallie but Sloot took it up with a laugh.

"And quite as determined as ever! You will probably find her rather a terrible person to get along with, Alva, but the only thing is to humor her. We all do, and treat her whims as though they were laws."

"Why?" asked Sallie, but hawdly her thoughts were racing. Could this be the game?

"Wheeler simply means that it is more kind to avoid argument and try to please her," Mrs. Copeland explained hastily and turned as the footman entered once more. "I did not ring, Elsie."

"No, madam. Mrs. Louis Delapierre is calling." He spoke very carefully and distinctly and Sallie jumped. Where had she heard that name before?

"I told you that I was at home to no one!" Mrs. Copeland rose in annoyance. "However, I will see Mrs. Delapierre in the smaller reception room, Elsie."

"Very good, madam." He bowed and vanished and she turned to Sallie.

"A very old friend of whom you have heard me speak, my dear, but I do not think you are quite strong enough yet to meet strangers. I shall not be long."

"Oh, Alva will stay and talk to me, Aunt Flo," Sloot observed, adding meaningly: "We have a great deal to say to each other, you know."

"Very well, but you must not tire her," Mrs. Copeland paused for a moment uncertainly and then went out but Sallie was oblivious to her departure. She was searching in her memory for the vague impression which that name had brought and at all once it came back to her. Ma Brennan in that squeaky rocker at home with the newspaper which bore the big black banner: "No Trace of Delapierre Diamonds. Police Look for Missing Maid!"

A SLIM ELEGANT FIGURE IN THE SNAPPIEST CLOTHES.

And then sank back again, biting her lip.

"Come in, Alva." She tried to speak carefully but there was a strained edge to her tone. "Your Cousin Wheeler is here."

A slim, elegant figure in the snappiest of clothes had risen and stepped forward with both hands outstretched. Feeling very much as though she were in a play Sallie moved slowly forward to meet him.

"My dearest girl!" His voice had a flip quality that went with the smirk he had worn in the picture but he wasn't smiling now. Underneath his effusiveness he was plainly ill at ease. "I am so glad that you are better. I could scarcely wait to see you!"

Sallie gave him one of her hands and replied coolly: "Thanks." Her own nerve was strengthened by the momentary embarrassment of these two and she withdrew her hand and smiled on past him with her small nose in the air.

"Alva, you were given Wheeler's roses, weren't you?" Mrs. Copeland spoke with a note of reproach. "Come and sit down, my dear."

"No, she shall sit here by me on the davenport!" Wheeler Sloot had recovered from his temporary rebuff and followed but Sallie took the chair which Mrs. Copeland had indicated. She knew that they were both looking at her approvingly and glancing up she caught the quick flash of congratulation which passed between them.

"Oh, yes, the roses!" Sallie turned and favored him with a slow little glance as recurrent dreams are sometimes, in certain types of persons, a real indication of a trouble or disease.

Recurrent dreams are those which apparently are able to focus the dream world or thought, which is our real world while we sleep, on the external trouble.

In one case, the dream came to the sleeper every few nights for a period of two weeks. He felt a gnawing sensation in the abdominal region. The dream would always come him to awake and at times he even told he even felt pain, where the gnawing sensation occurred.

The attending physician decided to try the X-ray and an ulcer was discovered and a successful operation performed.

There is no doubt that dreams are frequently caused by some glandular trouble.
